

Yale University Press
is pleased to announce the revival of the
YALE STUDIES IN ENGLISH SERIES

Founded in 1898, YALE STUDIES IN ENGLISH publishes books on English, American, and Anglophone literature developed in and by the Yale University community. With the support of a grant from the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation and in partnership with Yale University Press, the series has been revived for the twenty-first century.

New in the series:

Wordsworth and the Poetry of What We Are

PAUL H. FRY

"In Fry's informed philosophical scrutiny of Wordsworth's poetry, the convergence of humanity and Nature prompts a sustained reflection about the role a non-human world plays in Wordsworth's, or any other, humanism. Fry clarifies and advances an ongoing revolution in the unsentimental appreciation of Wordsworth's greatness. He has made a decisive contribution not only to Wordsworth studies but also to our understanding of poetical thinking."
